Sue

Thanks for looking into things last week - I do believe you and v grateful that you raised with the team.

Can we suggest something.

On the 10th Jan we have the launch of the Respect Action plan.

This will be a major cross government initiative to highlight the work which the govt is doing on:

- strengthening communities
- the role of schools
- the role of parenting
- Anti-social behaviour / binge drinking.

There will be a big launch on the 10th Jan - do you think Gordon would be up for being involved? We'll have about a dozen other ministers involved in some form across the UK

He could either do something at the event with TB or could have his own event somewhere else in the country
- the Respect team in the home office are co-ordinating.

The TB is likely to be somewhere just outside the M25.

I hope all else is well - let me know what you think.

Cheers

Ben
